

SEEKING AN INTERMEDIATE – SENIOR LEVEL INTERIOR DESIGNER

Closing date: Apr 2, 2017

Kreel Creative is a boutique Interior Design firm located in Vancouver's trendy design and lifestyle-focused Armoury District. We specialize in high-end residential and hospitality interior design projects.

We generally work on medium to large-scale projects involving new builds, or complete renovations. Our work environment is relaxed, and supportive of designers who appreciate a flexible schedule and who like to split their time between a home office and our light-filled studio, (most of our staff work remotely for much of their time; we are open to discussing a fully remote arrangement).

Our firm is committed to quality over quantity when pursuing new projects – we promise exceptional attention to detail and outcomes to our clients and ensure that we are staffed to live up to this promise.

We have an immediate opening for an intermediate or senior-level Interior Designer.

What the role involves:

- Applying creativity and problem-solving to your design work
- Managing all aspects of assigned projects from start to finish, from conceptual designs and concepts through project construction, (with guidance and direction from the firm's Principal as needed)
- Developing plans, elevations, sketches and sourcing resource materials/ images to develop presentations that communicate design intent for client review, (renderings would be a welcome addition)
- Producing complete interior construction and specifications drawings suitable for permit, tendering and construction purposes
- Coordinating external vendors and consultants associated with your projects, (electrical, mechanical, etc.)
- Supporting with client presentations and meetings (some you'll lead, some you'll support the firm's Principal)
- Cultivating positive, collaborative relationships with all client contacts
